

ERGONOMIC HANDLE FOR A CARRYING CASE

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An ergonomic handle that includes a male portion and a female portion. The male portion nest in the female portion to form a single, preferably rigid, form. The stiffness of the handle spreads the load of the case more evenly across all the fingers thereby helping to reduce fatigue.

60118922 v1